

general aviation pilots are already flying several miles off shore in the san onofre area to accommodate training, which does concern some pilots...now you want them to fly further off shore?